Maritime Engineering
and Construction
Capability Statement

About Linch-pin

Linch-pin provides specialist engineering services, project and construction management for the energy, ports and marine, defence and infrastructure sectors.

Formed in 2000 we are a client centric company with the capability and flexibility to innovate and add value across design, project management and marine construction activities.

Our maritime and structural engineering, naval architecture and project management experience covers new projects, asset operations, maintenance, modifications and facility decommissioning.

We can provide full project management and engineering services through to ad-hoc consulting services.

For small to medium sized projects we can offer EPC project delivery.
